

Rummage Sale for Schools

The parking lot and garage area of Little Jeff school in Daly City will be transformed into a market place Oct. 24, 25 and 26 when the district sells its surplus equipment.

Jefferson Elementary School District made a list of its surplus equipment recently — all of which is housed at the vacant Little Jeff School and is overflowing into the hallways.

The "garage sale," as it is being called, will include a multitude of used cafeteria equipment, new sporting equipment, and old classroom furniture.

Nancy Thomas, the sale's chairwoman, said that Supt. Herbert Hemington asked the Jefferson Council of PTA's to provide the manpower for the sale.

Seventy per cent of the proceeds will be returned to the district general fund and 30 per cent will be returned to the PTA council for its health and welfare program.

That program provides shoes and clothing for children who need assistance in the 8,000 student district.

The council maintains a clothes closet at Ben Franklin school for student's use.

Mrs. Thomas said PTA volunteers will price the merchandise early Oct. 24.

The equipment will be sold at low prices, Mrs. Thomas said.

The sporting equipment, including 160 baseball bats, 25 basketball nets, eight shuffleboard sets and two high jump bars, must be sold at preset prices.

An item which many people have shown interest in, Mrs. Thomas said, is a 1968 dump truck valued by the district at $200.

The council will accept bids for that truck and bids will be opened at 10 a.m. Oct. 26.

The winning bidder must pay cash and drive the truck away.

Furniture items to be included are 650 desks, 35 student chairs, 150 boxes of rulers, 100 yardsticks, ink, a piano, nine kilns, four wooden easels, 100 folding arm rests and a cloth dryer.

Cafeteria equipment will include 1,378 salad dishes, 1,141 fruit dishes, 835 eating trays and cooking equipment including pots, pans, mixing bowls, rolling pins, baker's scales and colanders.

The sale will be from 2-4 p.m. Oct. 24 and from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Oct. 25 and 26.

Daly City Suicides

Two persons died of apparent self-inflicted gunshot wounds in Daly City Saturday in two separate incidents, the San Mateo County Coroner's Office reported today.

The first incident involving Louis Bollardo, 65, of 259 Miriam Street, was reported to police at 8:25 a.m.

Some 12 hours later, at 8 p.m., Marjorie Mitchell, 59, of 161 Crestwood Drive, Apt. 23, was the victim of an apparent suicide, police report.

Hearings Slated

The Daly City Planning Commission was scheduled to hold three public hearings tonight at the City Hall, 90th and Sullivan avenues, starting at 8 o'clock.

Two zoning ordinance matters and a variance application will be on the agenda.

The variance application was filed by Gemini Developers, Inc., to permit construction of a two-family dwelling in a residential zone on the southwest corner of Werner and Vale streets.

Also to be discussed is an initiative to amend regulations of the city's zoning ordinance relating to temporary signs.

This involves incorporation of rules and regulations governing searchlight placement and use within Daly City.

The second zoning matter is a city initiative concerning the readoption of the city zoning map and revision of language contained in certain passages of the ordinance.

While incorporating legal descriptions of boundary districts, this readoption will not change any zoning classifications.

DC Man Dies After Accident

Burton Williams, 66, of 42 Lakewood Drive, Daly City died Sunday at Mary's Help Hospital from injuries suffered October 4 when he was struck by a bus.

Hospital authorities said Mr. Williams died at 5:30 a.m.

He suffered extensive head injuries in the accident, it was reported.

Williams is survived by his wife, Emma, of Daly City. Funeral arrangements are pending at Lasswell Co. Mortuary, Daly City.

Williams was hit as he stepped into the street near the corner of Clifton and Southgate Avenues in Daly City on Oct. 4, according to reports.

As part of the Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) multi-cultural education program, the grammar school children of the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City all have an opportunity to learn of the cultures of the world.

Located at all 19 district schools and three parochial schools, the multicultural education program allows the students to view charts and bulletin boards dealing with the culture and to participate in the activities of the culture.

The feelings one receives from walking into the Education Development Center located in the Martin Luther King Elementary School main office can be summed up in one word: energy!

There is much activity concerning ESAA programs happening throughout the room with everyone involved, including staff members and teachers.

ALL ACTIVITY IS oriented toward reducing, eliminating and preventing minority group isolation in the school district which is the main purpose of the ESAA grant.

The ESAA grant of $716,700 is being used in the six components of academic growth and development, multicultural education, bilingual education, counseling, parent participation and involvement, and staff participation and involvement.

Current activities concerning these components include a suggestion to the teachers to possibly use multicultural masks for Halloween art.

Winnie Kun, in charge of the guidance faction, sees the need for the children to "feel good about school" so they will come to school.

"We work with kids and we work with teachers to understand kids," Kun said.

Kun said the staff talks with a child in his or native language and finds out why the child isn't coming to school.

She said truancies are the biggest problem facing the guidance faction.

The Education Development Center is open to all teachers of the district from 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m. on weekdays.

Work Stoppage Averted By Skyline Faculty Vote

A half-day work stoppage has been averted by the faculty of Skyline College in San Bruno.

Last Friday, the school's Academic Senate voted unanimously to withhold teaching services from 9 a.m. to noon today.

The purpose of the work stoppage was to allow teachers time to attend a special faculty meeting to discuss the current state of salary negotiations with the San Mateo Community College District.

Presently, teachers in that three-school district are working without a 1975-76 contract.

However, Tuesday afternoon the Skyline teachers reversed their earlier action.

They averted what had been declared to be a state of emergency by the chancellor of the San Mateo Community College District, Glenn Smith.

Meeting Tuesday afternoon at the College of San Mateo, another of the district's three schools, the board of trustees adopted a set of emergency regulations — and then Smith declared that such a situation would exist at Skyline.

Smith's powers under the state of emergency are considerable.

He can hire any and all substitute employees needed to keep the colleges open, he can reassign employees to fill gaps at schools as necessary and he, and only he, can determine when a campus ought to be closed.

The vote to empower Smith with that all-encompassing authority was unanimous, 3-0.

Trustees Robert Tarver and James Tormey did not attend the special board meeting.

The latest action by the Skyline faculty, however, has made the decision by the board and chancellor moot.

Without the work stoppage, there is no state of emergency.

Salary negotiations have been protracted, with members of the district's board of trustees seeking a state of impasse.

The two sides in the dispute met last Friday but progress was said to be minimal.

The teachers have asked for a 9 per cent across the board raise, while the district has offered a 5.1 per cent increase.

There are also some disputes involving a variety of fringe benefits and salaries for part-time teachers.

Noise Solution Sought

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees Monday night instructed Superintendent Herbert Hemington to attend today's county Board of Supervisors meeting to find out what the supervisors intend to do about traffic noise at Colma Elementary School.

The trustees of the Daly City district, discussing briefly the single agenda item, concluded they would make no evaluation of the noise situation, being aggravated by county roadwork, until the supervisors have responded to a noise-lessing recommendation expected from the county engineering staff.

The county engineering and road department on Sept. 19 requested an analysis of the Colma School noise problem in a letter to the San Francisco firm of Buonaccorsi and Associates. That firm responded with a five-page report dated Sept. 29.

According to the report, the traffic noise inside 12 classrooms, the library and school office exceeds state standards. Noise levels in the play area also are excessive, according to the report.

Two noise abatement alternatives, each of which could cost upwards of $80,000, were proposed by Buonaccorsi and Associates. A third alternative the firm proposed would cost nothing. It would simply require prohibition of truck traffic.

The first alternative calls for construction of two fences, one 10 feet high about 350 feet along the Market Street side of the school, and the other eight feet high about 350 feet along the Hillside Boulevard side of the school.

The report recommended transparent acrylic sheets, such as Plexiglas, be used. Alternate one also calls for placing special gaskets on all openable windows, and then to mechanically ventilate the rooms when the gaskets have been installed.

The second alternative calls for the replacement of specific windows with half-inch-thick laminated glass and the installation of acoustical tile on the ceilings in these rooms. It also calls for the placement of gaskets on openable windows and the mechanical ventilation of the rooms.

Alternate three would restrict all trucks of 6,000 pounds and move gross vehicle weight in the vicinity of the school during school hours.

Colma Police Arrest SSF Man for Narcotics

A South San Francisco man was arrested by Colma police Tuesday for alleged possession of narcotics for sale.

Ross Raymond Hunter, 23, of 52 San Felipe Ave., South San Francisco was booked into the North San Mateo County Detention Facility at Daly City on the charges, after Colma police officer Gene Tognetti reportedly found "a number of pieces" of suspected marijuana along with some "white powder" on Hunter.

Other items allegedly found on Hunter were believed to be hashish, police said.

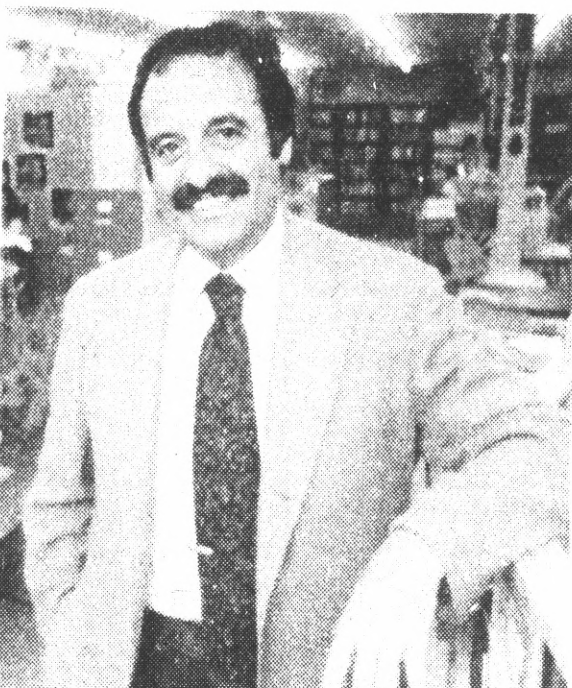

The San Mateo County Sheriff's Office is analyzing the suspect items today, Colma Chief James Dorris said.

Hunter was stopped for a minor traffic violation about 3:50 a.m. this morning on El Camino Real near Cypress Lawn Cemetery.

Power Pole Theft Probed

Sheriff Deputies are still scratching their heads trying to figure out how someone carted off a 45-foot cedar power pole from San Bruno Mountain.

The theft was reported last week by Pacific Gas and Electric line foreman Charles Nagel. The pole had been placed near Radio Road for erection. There was no evidence that it had been cut.

Hospital Humor His Specialty

Cement Toting Pacifica Cartoonist

AT THE DRAWING BOARD

Tom Jackson, a Pacifica cartoonist presently working in South San Francisco, sketches out an idea for his proposed syndicated cartoon strips.

By JANET PARKER
If Tom Jackson hadn't been toting cement, he may not have become a published cartoonist.

It's because he seriously injured himself as a tile setter for a cement company that he ended up in the hospital and the ideas for his two books of medically-oriented humor developed.

Since his hospitalization a year ago, things have snowballed for the Pacifica man. He's being sought for syndicated cartoon strips, creative merchandise and all sorts of artistic endeavors.

"It takes sheer guts to hang in there," said Jackson, 43. "I've been trying for years."

And his resume shows it.

WHEN HE was 12 years old he was the subject of a national wire service story for painting faces of international personalities on eggshells.

He did art here and there for labor publications, while in the California National Guard.

He's also been featured in a national magazine, "The Illustrator."

International Professional Cartoon Contest granted him third place honors in 1964, 1965 and 1966.

He says he used to squeeze in artwork on the weekends, because his hands were too sore from cement work to pick up his art tools during the week.

And yet, never that big break.

But in early 1974, he nearly broke his back on the job.

He was examined by a multitude of specialists and surgeons.

"They all came up with the same conclusion — I was hurt," he recalls.

Finally, a neurosurgeon informed him his days of heavy work were over.

He was in Peninsula Hospital one week and underwent months of therapy. He still occasionally wears a back brace.

While there, he told his friends he was doing "basic research" for a publication.

As a result, he published "Is There a Patient in the House?", a book of 24 cartoons aimed at the medical profession and the innocent patient.

THEN, IN MARCH, he came down with what he calls "killer pneumonia" resulting in a lengthy hospital stay.

His second book, "Patients Pending," released last week, was the result of that experience.

"The hospital things came about because I was put in there with little to do," he said. "A lot of things that go on in a hospital are very tragic and dramatic. I don't mess with that."

"I like hospital cartoons because everyone sooner or later has some dealings with doctors," he said.

The kinds of things that inspired the books, he said, were a patient he saw chained to a bed, patients screaming and hollering down the halls fearful of hypodermic needles and the sensitivity of the nurses he encountered.

He says the cartoons were "just to show them somebody understands what they are going through." It's a "universal humor," he said.

He prefers, however, to do serious art as a means to relax.

Presently, he's compiling a book of artwork and poetry for children which he hopes to complete by spring.

Jackson also has dabbled in political cartooning, book illustrating and sculpturing

Pacifica Sets Beach Goals

The Pacifica City Council Oct. 7 approved a request by the city Park, Beaches and Recreation Commission to go ahead with their 1975-76 goals and objectives.

In the special joint session, council members also approved the compilation of suggestions for beach development by the commissioners.

An item concerning a proposed beach clean-up ballot issue was ordered placed on the council's Oct. 27 agenda for discussion, and a proposed set of rules for reserving play periods on new Terra Nova High School tennis courts was temporarily shelved.

PBR Commission member said they intend to meet with various groups within the city and to hold informal hearings to obtain feedback on the types of services and facilities the public desires. Suggestions also will be sought as to how to do what they want to do.

Through this process, the commission said it hopes to establish a priority list for existing services and goals for future services and to develop a list of budget priorities and a long-range timetable for implementation and financing.

Commission Chairman Harvey Barnett said, "We're not doing this to have a large club in the form of a list of public recreation desires) to beat the city council into submission at budget time."

According to PBR Director Jinny Jacquith, the intent is to set up goals which could be implemented on the basis of a possible five-year budget scheduled.

The main concern of the council appeared to be whether the city would be able financially to implement programs, whether desirable or not.

Mayor Stan Farber said he would be 100 per cent behind any self-sustaining program. His definition of self-sustaining was that "it would not cost the city one dime" to implement.

As for the commission's proposal to come up with suggestions for beach development, Barnett stressed, "Development might mean non-development — leave it as it is."

The concern over beach development (or preservation) was heightened with the recent passage of legislation to acquire portions of San Pedro Beach, as well as with other possible developments on beach property.

Commissioners said they want to study and to ultimately develop guidelines for both public and private beach development.

"We're just talking about some broad, general guidelines," Barnett said.

Mayor Farber said guidelines should be specific. He also said he hopes the commissioners will meet with the Planning Commission on this particular matter.

"This goes into planning so deeply, planning ought to be aware of your thoughts," Farber noted.

Director Jacquith said after the PBR commissioners have studied the situation and formulated questions they will get together with the planning commissioners.

At Farber's suggestion, the council and commissioners agreed that the council would receive a six-month progress report on the beach development guidelines.

Only one citizen was in the audience throughout the entire special meeting. Joe Parris of 1468 Flores Drive said his main reason for attending was his concern for the proposed beach cleaning ballot issue.

Parris said before any ballot issue is written the public should have answers to such questions as exactly how much beach cleaning will cost and what kinds of equipment will be used.

Mayor Farber said those questions would be answered when the answers become available. He ordered the matter placed on the Oct. 27 agenda for general discussion.

The issue of a tennis court play reservation system was dismissed because the new Terra Nova courts apparently have brought out hordes of tennis buffs.

Director Jacquith said proper tennis play etiquette is not observed. Some players, she said, stay on a court for three hours before relinquishing it.

She said she hopes the newness will wear off and proper play procedure will be worked out. If not, she suggested a procedure to insure that everyone who wanted to play would have an opportunity to do so via a pre-arranged reservation.

Council members told her to come back if such a reservation system appeared an inevitable necessity.

Artist

with cement ("You have to work very fast").

He recently unveiled his masterpiece, he says, at the Pacifica Periwinkle Art Gallery.

He was commissioned, so to speak, by the gallery staff to supply graffiti for the men's restroom, a work of art he calls the "Cistern Chapel."

NOW ART is a full time job for the Pacifican — about 10 to 12 hours a day. He's staying at a friend's house in South San Francisco to do his work. At his own home, he says, either the cat is wandering in with a bird in his mouth, the dog's walking on his work with muddy feet, or the phone is constantly ringing for his four children — always something to distract him.

He's compiling a proposed syndicated cartoon strip for the Chicago Tribune-New York News and the Oceanic Press which is represented in 30 foreign countries.

How does a cartoon develop?

He says it's a matter of sitting down and thinking — about flowers, animals or obscene phone calls. He says he often jumps from bed at 2 a.m. to draw something — sometimes on the walls or floor.

Frustration, he says, is something he's learned to live with.

After 20 years of peddling his art here and there, he realizes one can never overcome frustration.

"You just have to disguise it as something else," he said.

An example of frustration, he said is working on a cartoon for six hours, thinking it's great and the first person to see it says they can't understand it.

"ANY ARTIST IS always looking for the epitome of perfection but it's never there," he said.

There's so many things, he said, he hasn't logged yet.

"My goal is to let people see themselves. Maybe I'll make a bundle. I don't know," he said.

He eventually hopes to do a doctor's cloak and stethoscope and make the rounds observing in a hospital for some cartoon research.

He realized his hospital humor was appreciated when a fellow patient in the hospital noticed Jackson's depression, went to the gift shop and returned with a copy of his first publication to cheer him up — not realizing Jackson was the author.

days in the former library of the King office.

REORGANIZING THE library so it would look "half way decent and inviting" was one of the first jobs of the new ESAA Director Tom Notaro who began work in August.

Notaro took over the position from former director Dr. Robert Hughley when Hughley ran into some problems.

Notaro summed up the problems saying there was "poor communication by my predecessor and confusion in the operation."

The director said Hughley was from outside the district and unknown to teachers and administrators. Notaro has been in the district for 16 years and was principal at George Washington School the last five years.

"I'm very much pleased with the progress," Notaro said as he noted the current program features better communication, an organization plan and clearer lines of responsibility.

He said every person in the project has someone else to report to for a definite pattern of responsibility.

THE PROJECT HEAD sees definite reasons for the ESAA program coming to the area.

"Daly City is a changing community. There are many minorities moving into the area. There is a problem of minority and student isolation," Notaro said.

He said in the past 16 years since he began work in the district the Jefferson schools are serving a completely different population. Philippine Samoans have seen the biggest jump in the district minority population, according to Notaro.

The bilingual component is one of the most important factions of the project, according to Notaro.

"It's a good thing to speak in the mother tongue," Notaro said.

The bilingual program comes to Daly City because of a Supreme Court decision

Skyline

According to Robert Begg, president of the Skyline Academic Senate, the issue of pay for part-time teachers is particularly sensitive.

Said Begg, "The district proposal would pay those teachers less than the pro-rate pay for full-time instructors. You can see what that might lead to down the line: the employment of only part-time teachers."

Begg added that he did not know how pervasive a work stoppage would be.

"We'll know after the fact," he said. He would not describe the action as a strike. "I wouldn't know what to call it," he said.

Wildlife is Topic For Book Review

"Wildlife of San Mateo County" will be the subject of the next book review of The Friends of the Daly City Library to be presented by Anne Velez, education coordinator of the San Mateo County Humane Society, and Doug Morris, director of wildlife activities, at 10 a.m., Oct. 23, in the Coral Room of the Westlake Library.

According to The Friends' book review chairwoman, Mrs. Joseph Canada, Westlake Branch Head Librarian Sheila Cavenor will have wildlife books on display.

Velez teaches children to care for pets and wildlife of San Mateo County and speaks to parent groups and I.P.T.A.'s as a free community service.

It is planned she will train a volunteer Care Corps to advise and match up people with proper pets.

She received a degree in urban teaching from Simmons College, Boston, and did her undergraduate work at Brown University, Providence, earning an A.B. in anthropology.

Morris, who has a degree in wildlife management from Oregon State, started with the San Mateo County Humane Society as an animal control officer and built from scratch his department, which includes a wildlife rescue team. He is also one of the founders of the Wildlife Rehabilitation Council.

Included in the program will be film strips of San Mateo County wildlife. A coffee hour preceding the event will be hosted by Hospitality Chairwoman Mrs. Wayne Jarvis, assisted by Mrs. Anthony Barichievich and Elvera Sunnell.

Mrs. Canada will accept reservations at the review for a no-host luncheon following which will honor the speakers, to be held at the Boar's Head Restaurant, 371 Serramonte Center.

The program has been scheduled by The Friends as a community service. The public may attend.

Former Sen. Dolwig Is Sentenced

Former State Sen. Richard Dolwig was given a stiff sentence by a federal judge Friday.

U.S. District Judge Samuel Conti called the Eurovest mortgage-fraud scheme "a highly sophisticated con operation" and said the courts should let it be known that those involved in white collar crime are going to prison.

He sentenced Dolwig to five years in prison but freed him on $10,000 bail pending appeal.

He sentenced David Kaplan and David Gorwitz, both of Miami, whom he called the main perpetrators of the fraud, to 10 years and eight years respectively.

Three other defendants each received five-year sentences.

"The trouble with America today is that too many people have done something wrong and nothing happened to them," Conti said in turning down probation by the six defendants.

The six were found guilty Sept. 8 of various counts involving a Eurovest scheme in which developers were promised large loans in return for fees.

Kaplan, 45, portrayed as the mastermind, was also fined $15,000 for the 21-counts on which he was found guilty. His bail was continued at $200,000.

David Gorwitz, 44, was fined $10,000 on eight counts. His bail was also continued set at $200,000 pending appeal.

Dolwig, 67, formerly San Mateo County state senator, now living in Los Angeles, received sentences of two to five years on eight counts. Total time of the sentences was 33 years but, as in all six cases, Conti had the sentences running concurrently.

Cancer Assistance Needed

An appeal to all residents of San Mateo County to help in a drive to raise $75,000 to maintain present programs of research, rehabilitation and education was made today by its crusade director, Anna Lipscomb.

Donations are urgently needed, she said, and may be sent to the American Cancer Society's San Mateo County unit office at 1163 Chess Drive, Suite B, Foster City.

The volunteers of the unit have been working all year on fund-raising projects.

Over $200,000 has already been raised, she said, through such events as a Bike-a-thon, a dinner party attended by 600, a fashion show and even a chess marathon put on recently by two 17-year-old boys to raise $400 for the cancer society.

Many groups and organizations have donated proceeds from their activities to help, she says. Last month the Golden West Ceramic Association raised funds through its show at the county fairgrounds.

Next month, the Santo Christo group in South San Francisco will give a portion of its dinner dance proceeds to the Society.

Ms. Allende At SFSU

Laura Allende, former Chilean Senator during the Unidad Popular Government and sister of deposed President Salvador Allende, will speak on the repressive nature of the Chilean regime at San Francisco State University's McKenna Theater Oct. 28 at noon.

Ms. Allende's speech is being sponsored by the International Relations Student Union.

As a leader of the Chilean Resistance, Ms. Allende was captured and tortured by the Chilean Military Junta.

After massive international protests, she was released, and now travels extensively to promote international support for her people's struggle.

County Tax Bills Mailed; Increase Told

Although the property tax rate has gone down in all San Mateo County cities, most property owners will be paying more in taxes this year because of increases in assessed valuation.

This was pointed out Friday by County Tax Collector-Treasurer Ross Conti in announcing that the county's 1975-76 tax bills are in the mail.

Conti said that a total of 187,000 tax bills are being sent out, an increase of 3,000 over last year.

The total amount to be collected in property taxes this year $230,748,100, an increase of more than $15 million over 1974-75, the tax collector reported.

Taxpayers will receive informational messages with their tax bills pointing out that the county government functions account for only 20 per cent of the total tax bill, and noting that the Board of Supervisors reduced the county tax rate this year by 25.5 cents.

However, with an overall countwide increase of 16 per cent in assessed valuation, taxpayers in all but six communities will be paying more in taxes.

Deadline for payment of the first installment of taxes without delinquency penalty is Dec. 10. The deadline for payment of the second installment is April 12.

Conti pointed out as an example of the joint affect of a reduced tax rate and increased assessed valuation, the situation in Half Moon Bay.

Although the tax rate there dropped 7.86 per cent, the assessed valuation increased by 37.41 per cent. Thus, he noted, the owner of a $50,000 home who paid $1,326 in property taxes last year will pay $1,679 this year, an increase of $352.

The six communities where increases in assessed valuation was not enough to cancel out the tax rate decrease and whose homeowners will be paying less in taxes on the example basis of a $50,000 home are Daly City, Hillsborough, Colma, San Mateo, Woodside and East Palo Alto. The latter community actually had a 1 per cent decrease in assessed valuation this year.

Conti noted that the tax rate figures are based on assessed valuations which include the $1,750 homeowners' exemption. Property owners who neglected to file for the exemption during the period of March 1 to April 15 still have the opportunity to file for an 80 per cent exemption if they do so by Dec. 1.

The 1975-76 property tax a $50,000 home and the difference in tax amounts between 1974-75 and 1975-76. Decreases are in parentheses.

Serramonte Open House

Serramonte High School is having its annual Open House Oct. 22, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Parents are welcome to meet teachers.

It will be an informal open house where one can wander around the school, visit the teachers, counselors, and administrators. Refreshments sponsored by the Parents Association will be served.

Sheriff Given Own 'Flash Roll'

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors is providing establishing a $25,000 "flash roll" for the sheriff's office.

Sheriff John R. McDonald requested the action this week, noting a "flash roll" is necessary to set up arrests for large amounts of narcotics or in stolen property cases in which a suspect insists upon proof of an undercover agent's buying power before the contraband is produced.

Once the contraband is produced, arrests are made and the flash roll is kept intact, the sheriff explained.

The sheriff's office has used a "flash roll" in the past, McDonald noted, but has had to borrow such funds from other police agencies.

McDonald said that strict precautions will be taken to insure the safety of the money. It will be stored in a safe when not being used, and access to the safe will be limited. Furthermore, the money will not leave the safe without being accompanied by at least four deputy sheriffs, he said.

Jobs Issue Pits Agency Against Agency

The county Economic Opportunity Commission was asked Thursday night to investigate the county Community Manpower Council on the grounds it is failing to do its job.

The request came from Larry Smith, director of District 1 of the Community Manpower Council, which serves Brisbane, South San Francisco, San Bruno and Millbrae. He told commissioners "disadvantaged people are concerned" because they are not getting county jobs.

The problem, Smith maintained, is that the county's manpower program personnel fail to communicate with the poor.

Smith accused the Manpower Council of "discriminating against the poor because of the lack of information."

Commissioner Helen S. Kerwin said while she had sympathy with Smith's request, she did not think it "the function of the EOC to investigate another branch of the county."

"We can express our concerns," she said. "If we don't have concerns for the poor people, who will?" Commissioner Stephanie Ureta added.

"Our feeling is we have exhausted every other means to solve this problem," Smith pleaded. "All we want is to enrich our lives, and you are the advocates of the poor."

Smith agreed it was highly unorthodox to ask one branch of county government to investigate another, but he claimed, in the next 12 months the county will face an additional 10 to 12 percent in the unemployment rate.

Commissioner Dolores Randall, who also is a member of the Manpower Council, said, "I don't think we can start investigating each other. We don't have the authority." She said it might even be illegal.

Steve Graham, director of planning and research development for the commission, said it is one of the primary responsibilities of the commission to obtain information and present it to the Manpower Council.

"We haven't been able to do this satisfactorily. Therefore, the EOC is not doing its job," Graham said.

"We have a structure but it is not working," Smith added.

The matter was finally referred to the EOC staff to make a recommendation to the executive commission.

Earlier, Mrs. Kerwin had complained that the executive committee had more representatives on it from government agencies than from the poor.

She said at least a third of the committee should directly represent poor areas.

Mrs. Kerwin, former chairman of the commission, also came in for her licks as well. Mrs. Randall, another ex-chairman, charged that Mrs. Kerwin should not have attended a Las Vegas conference when she was no longer chairman.

It was agreed that in future Tony M. Gonzales, the new chairman, will represent the commission at all conferences or send one of his two alternatives, Miguel A. Maldonado or Warnell Coats.

Raul Baca of San Mateo accused Dr. Eugene Gonzales, regional director of the Community Services Administration in San Francisco, of failing to notify the county of the cut-off date for applying for extra antidiscrimination funds, thus depriving the Mexican-American Unity Council of some $100,000.

Teachers Rap Specialist Need

An "elementary curriculum specialist" is neither needed nor wanted by South San Francisco United School District elementary teachers, and they made that clear in petitions submitted Thursday night.

The Board of Trustees heard a plea from Marjorie Pitkin, Classroom Teachers Association president, that the district not fill the position.

At the same time, Richard Zarro, administrative association president, said 22 on-site administrators do want the position filled.

After an executive closed-door session late Thursday night, the Board of Trustees selected Janis Bianchi, a teacher at Buri Buri School, to fill that vacancy. She will be paid $16,617.

Mrs. Pitkin presented to the board petitions signed by 238 of the district's 247 teachers indicating they did not want the opening filled.

She also had signatures of junior high school and high school teachers supporting the elementary instructors' stand.

"Again and again, you and we are told we have to live with economic reality," Mrs. Pitkin said. "It's a bitter pill to swallow."

And yet, the district continues to hire an individual no one wants, she said.

"Do not waste our precious money," she said. She called a curriculum specialist "a luxury," noting it would be nice if the district could afford such a luxury.

She asked the board to consider priorities. She said the appointment would "fill a cubicle in the district office with another person to push papers or people."

"Teachers in this district do not need and do not want an elementary curriculum specialist," she said.

The teachers' representative also referred to a recent board meeting in which the board chose to release a teacher at Buri Buri School, because the teacher-student ratio did not allow for that individual.

Trustee Valerie Lambertson referred to a letter to the present curriculum specialist in which Mrs. Pitkin asks for help at the elementary curriculum meeting center.

Mrs. Pitkin said she was asking that material and space be available for teachers at the center, not for a staff person.

"If it's necessary to have supervision," Mrs. Pitkin said, "hire an aide from 3-5 p.m. to make sure no one walks off with the scissors and paste."

Trustee Pat Hilliard produced a list of duties and responsibilities for that specialist.

Included were plans to act as liaison with county and state media selection committees, be familiar with current curriculum research materials, coordinate district activities in elementary textbook selection, monitor the school textbook selection program and some 16 other responsibilities.

Richard Zarro said there presently are 6,713 elementary students, one director of elementary education and one coordinator of the Early Childhood Program.

"Two people cannot continue to coordinate elementary education," Zarro said. "We totally support this hiring."

Tom Gaffney, assistant superintendent for instruction, said the position is being called "coordinator educational resources-elementary."

He said at one time in the 1950s, the district had as many as four persons in that position. The last five years, there has been only one.

The board had requested the title change saying the old title, elementary curriculum specialist, was not definitive enough.

Bruno Parking Lot Suspect Nabbed

A San Jose man was arrested by San Bruno Police Friday afternoon, after an off-duty police officer allegedly saw him burglarize a car in the parking lot of the Tanforan Park Shopping Center.

Taken into custody was Kenneth Sullivan, 18, of 2929 Atwood Drive.

According to police, off duty police officer Barry Woodard spotted two men allegedly burglarizing a car in the Sears parking lot. He called Police Detective Rick Watson.

Watson spotted the two suspects driving away from the parking lot in a green pick-up truck. He signalled for the duo to pull over, but instead they speeded up.

Watson chased the two men, through the streets of San Bruno and South San Francisco, reaching speeds of 60 miles per hour.

Police said the truck pulled into the rear parking area of an apartment complex at Country Club and Alida Drive, and the two men jumped out of the car and ran in separate directions.

Watson chased after Sullivan and arrested him.

Police are still looking for the other suspect.

Bertini to Visit U.S.S.R.

Millbrae City Councilman Tulio Bertini will visit Russia this month with other delegates of the League of California Cities.

After the League of Cities convention concludes in San Francisco Oct. 22, the councilman and other California city officials will fly to Kiev, then from there tour the cities of Moscow and Leningrad.

The nine-day tour, termed by the league an "official-to-official visit," will include workshops with dignitaries in the three Soviet cities, sightseeing and theater tickets for ballet and circus performances in Moscow and Leningrad.

Sponsored by the National League of Cities and United States Conference of Mayors, the tour is designed to allow and exchange of views between American and Soviet decision makers.

Cost of the trip is $795, which has been paid for by Bertini.

"I hope the trip will be rewarding in many aspects," Bertini said. "I hope to take pictures and record impressions, which I will share with my fellow teachers at Capuchino High School, with students and with the citizens of Millbrae through the City Council."

SSF Bus Routes Meet Goals

South San Francisco's bus system is meeting expectations.

Records on passengers and income kept since Sept. 8 show there are some 9,000 passengers a week riding the buses with approximately $1,100 a week in fares being collected.

"That's a very satisfactory ridership for the start of the system," said City Planner David Hale, who coordinated the routes. Estimates of income for the system had been set at $1,000 a week, he said.

Buses went into service Aug. 25. But records were not started until Sept. 8 to allow for a short "debugging" period and to let the drivers and passengers familiarize themselves with the system.

According to Hale, records are being summarized to show the number of regular fare passengers, those handicapped passengers using the system, students and ones riding for free.

SM Community College Pay Dispute

The American Federation of Teachers has begun a concerted effort to gain an acceptable contract for teachers in the San Mateo Community College District. Instructors in that district have been teaching this semester without an agreement for 1975-76.

And the AFT has taken an increasingly tough stand on negotiations which have bogged down lately.

At their meeting last week, the members of AFT in the district voted in favor of seven resolutions designed to "end the current logjam in negotiations."

The AFT members resolved to:

- Win a collective bargaining election next year.
  - Refuse to participate in fact-finding without a recommendation by a mediation team.
  - Support ratification of the contract by a majority vote of all teachers.
  - Sue the district to improve conditions for part-time instructors.
  - Request the San Mateo County Central Labor Council to urge the district's board of trustees to engage in good faith bargaining with teacher representatives.
  - Picket the district office and board meetings.
  - Sue the district again if it imposes a unilateral salary settlement without ratification by the teachers.
- Of all those points, the first might be the most significant.

nificant.

With the signing of a collective bargaining bill for teachers last month, the struggle for dominance among several teacher organizations has begun in earnest.

The AFT is taking on the California Teachers Association throughout the state.

According to the new law, elections can be held after April 1, 1976, in each public school district to determine which teacher group will represent the instructors at the bargaining table.

In this county, the community college district provides perhaps the best example of how the two major organizations are gearing up for their fight.

Both sides, the AFT and the CTA, are planning to pump money into the confrontation.

Some of the preliminary skirmishing has already started.

In this district, the AFT is clearly the more militant and aggressive.

As salary negotiations drag on through this semester, the AFT benefits because its strong positions and tough rhetoric become more appealing to the rank and file.

In this district, there are about 1,000 teachers, including part-time and evening instructors. Of those, almost all of the day division faculty at the three campuses are represented by one or the other of the two organizations.

It is estimated that CTA has about 330 day faculty members. The AFT has about 220.

The rest of the teachers have no firm allegiance.

CTA and AFT leaders would like to change all that. What occurred Wednesday night at the College of San Mateo was an example of how the two groups are jockeying for position.

Outside the school's administration building where the district's board of trustees was preparing to meet, three AFT members picketed. Earlier in the day, they had picketed the district offices in San Mateo.

The AFT also represented a counselor from the CSM College Readiness Program who had been fired. She was appealing the procedure used to fire her and the AFT was backing her up.

The AFT was also making sure that visitors had a copy of their seven-point position adopted Monday.

The CTA theme was that the district has paid too much money to employ a professional negotiator during this salary dispute.

According to the CTA spokesmen, the district has already spent more than $10,000 to use that negotiator. They added:

"Instead of a paid negotiator, we feel Chancellor (Glenn) Smith should represent the board in all CEC negotiations. We invite Chancellor Smith to come forward and begin to negotiate with CEC."

The new law requiring collective bargaining goes into effect on Jan. 1, 1976.

Elections can't be held until after April 1. It is expected that, if an election is held, it would probably be held in the fall or winter.

In any event, the duel between the two teacher organizations figures to muddy the waters already roiled by the protracted salary dispute this fall.

So far, the district has been offering a 5.1 per cent across the board salary boost while the teachers have been seeking a 9 per cent raise.

There are some other key areas of disagreement too, particularly the one the AFT is willing to sue for.

That one involves conditions for part-time teachers, a bone of contention which has long irritated the AFT leadership in the district.

"We fully plan to sue on this," said AFT spokesman Pat Manning. "We'll have more on this later."

Cat Feeding Banned

A judge in Redwood City last week issued an order prohibiting South San Francisco teacher Kathleen Guiney from feeding stray cats at Coyote Point Park in San Mateo.

She had been taken to court by officials of the County Parks and Recreation Department, who complained they were tired of cleaning up cat food allegedly left at the park by Mrs. Guiney.

Park officials said the food spoils and becomes health nuisance.

Mrs. Guiney said the animals would be left to starve if she didn't help them.

But Superior Court Judge Robert D. Miller issued an order which allows Mrs. Guiney to use food to bait cat traps.

Under an earlier agreement, she is allowed to trap the wayward cats and take them home, where she cares for them long enough to tame them and place them in private homes.

She has cared for cats for five years.

SM League Office Opens

The Japanese-American Citizens League has opened a Community Center office at 414 E. Third Ave., San Mateo.

Bilingual community worker Thomas W. Grubbs said the center's office hours will be from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. weekdays.

The center will provide information and assist Japanese-Americans on such things as employment opportunities, housing, transportation, education programs, senior citizens events and social-welfare programs.

The center also plans to compile master files on Japanese Senior Citizens, shut-ins, and recent immigrants from Japan.

The work is funded through Federal Revenue Sharing Funds entrusted to San Mateo with the cooperation of the Japanese-American Citizens League.

Etchings On Display

The multi-color etchings of Josef Eidenberger, the Austrian artist commissioned to do a series of etchings of Williamsburg, Va. for the bicentennial, are currently on display at the Hillsdale Gallery, Hillsdale Mall, San Mateo.

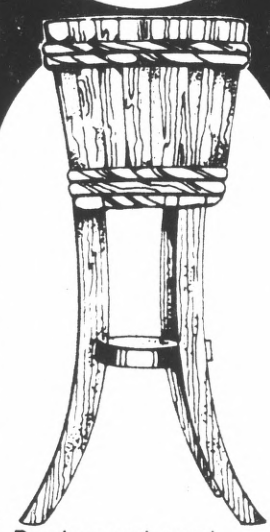

Eidenberger sketched such Williamsburg landmarks as the governor's palace, the capitol, Burton Parish church, and the Wren Building.

His color etchings require the use of several color plates in addition to a black line plate. Finished plates are inked by hand and hand printed and signed by the artist.

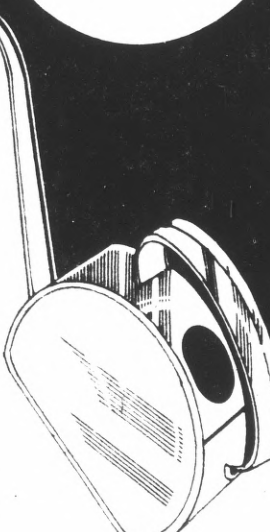

Born in 1899 in Goisern, Austria, Eidenberger left Austria in 1974 to do the historical etchings to be seen at Hillsdale.

GIRL SCOUTING

SCOUT AMERICA '76 Planning Committee, chaired by Alvin L. Schwarzbach, will meet Friday, from noon to 2 p.m. in the community auditorium of Breuer's to discuss the April 3 and 4, 1976 celebration of Girl Scouting scheduled for the Serramonte Shopping Center Mall.

The committee is expected to hear reports from Association Bicentennial Liaisons for San Francisco, Daly City, Pacifica, South San Francisco, San Bruno and Tricity as to troop plans for the event.

John Budlong of Reel Grobman and Associates will discuss physical arrangement of booth space.

Promotional aspects of the affair also are on the agenda.

SWIMMING for this week will include Brownies using the Jefferson High School pool on Thursday, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Brownies must be at least 48's tall to participate.

A green Girl Scout permission slip is required for each girl.

BROWNIE BEAUTY DAY is Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. as Brownie Girl Scouts gather near the North Mall of Westlake Shopping Center to walk to Thornton Beach State Park.

The youngest of Scouts will plant seeds along John Daly Blvd. as they go. At the beach, they will eat their bag lunches, play games led by Cadette troop 1636 and enjoy a nature walk.

Troops already signed up include 1704 led by Brownie Beauty Day Chairwoman Sue Scaduto, 2059 led by Cheryl Figone, 2025 led by Louise Rainey and 2011 led by Karen Rodgers.

Other troops may reserve space by phoning Daly City Girl Scout Association Special Events Coordinator Mrs. Caroline Futrell, 992-4706.

Girls should bring a bag lunch and green Girl Scout permission slips.

Mrs. Futrell reminds parents that girls should wear sturdy shoes, no sandals, and playclothes, not Brownie uniforms.

Complete rules are available from Brownie leaders.

REGISTRATION is scheduled for Monday at the home of Shirley Figone, 327 Higate Drive in Daly City from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. by separate check per troop for registration and for Share of Belonging.

Leaders and troop finance chairmen wishing to register at any time except Monday, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. are requested to phone Mrs. Figone, 756-8588 in advance.

GIRLS interested in Senior Girl Scouting are asked by Senior Advisor Mrs. Kathy Galvin to attend a meeting Monday at Broadmoor Presbyterian Church in the community room, from 7-8:30 p.m.

"Any ninth grade or older girl interested in a Panorama troop is more than welcome," according to Mrs. Galvin.

The troop plans to work with the Salvation Army's "Hand In Hand" program with senior citizens, become more involved in community activities and dabble in arts and crafts during the coming year.

'Saga of West' at Cow Palace

"Saga of the West," an action-filled production detailing the history of the Old West, will be a special attraction at the 31st annual Grand National Rodeo, Horse Show, and Livestock Exposition, scheduled Oct. 24-Nov. 2 at the San Francisco Cow Palace.

The colorful show — which will be presented in addition to rodeo action and horse show competition at each of the 14 arena performances — features an actual cattle stampede, a spectacular wagon wreck, a trick roping specialist, Indian dancers, buffalo and one of the most distinctive symbols of the early West — the Texas Longhorn steer.

Twenty of these near-extinct cattle, with their huge horn spread of approximately six feet, are presented in a trail drive, complete with cow hands and a chuck wagon. The action highlight of the evening comes when rustlers strike the herd, and, in the ensuing chase, the chuck wagon crashes and overturns.

"Saga of the West" mixes compelling action and slapstick comedy. Performances are scheduled each week night at 8 p.m., Saturdays at 2 and 8 p.m., and Sundays at 2 and 7 p.m.

Tickets are now on sale at the Cow Palace box office (334-4852) and all major ticket outlets.

Papan Bill Signed by Brown

Assemblyman Louis J. Papan's bill (AB1120), insuring the right of parents of educationally handicapped children to be present at all meetings of Admission Committees for School Programs for Educationally Handicapped Pupils, has been signed into law by Governor Brown.

Prior to this bill, the Education Code did not provide for the presence of parents whose children were under consideration for admission to the state-funded "two percent programs" or other similar state-funded special education programs. It will be effective Jan. 1, 1976.

In addition to allowing a physician, technically qualified professionals, or teachers to present additional information for consideration by the Admission Committee, parents now have the right to be present at all committee meetings.

TN Film Club New Agenda

After a very successful rookie year, the film club is back again with a bigger membership and a new agenda of old movies at Terra Nova High School.

The club, advised by Christine Clancy, has already shown "Destry Rides Again," a 1939 classic with James Stewart and Marlene Dietrich, and "Dinner at Eight," a Jean Harlow 1933 flick. Monday, film club members and guests will see "The Sea Hawk" with Errol Flynn. Officers for the 50-member club are director, Tony Ficken; assistant director, Richard Dwyer; producer, Dan Pickell; impresario, Sue Cook; and transient monitor, Jeff Bell.

Speaker at Twins Club

Ms. Denise Depucchie, from Dale Carnegie Courses of San Mateo, will be the guest speaker at meeting today of the Coastside Mothers of Twins Club.

The meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m. in the Conference Room of the San Bruno Public Library.

Ms. Depucchie will speak to members on "Modification, Communication and Alternatives."

All prospective mothers of twins and multiple birth children are welcome to attend. For further information, contact Mrs. Jerry Schreier of San Mateo.

Tiger Tales, Terra Nova's award winning magazine, taught by Le Pacini, is back again, reporting all the campus news in a quarterly edition.

The editorial staff includes Doug Hansen and yours truly as co-editors in chief; Margaret Battaion as news editor; Dan Jocy as assistant news editor; Tom Minshew as feature staff editor; Tom Peterson as sports editor and Ken Smith as assistant sports editor. Dana Dias is assistant feature editor.

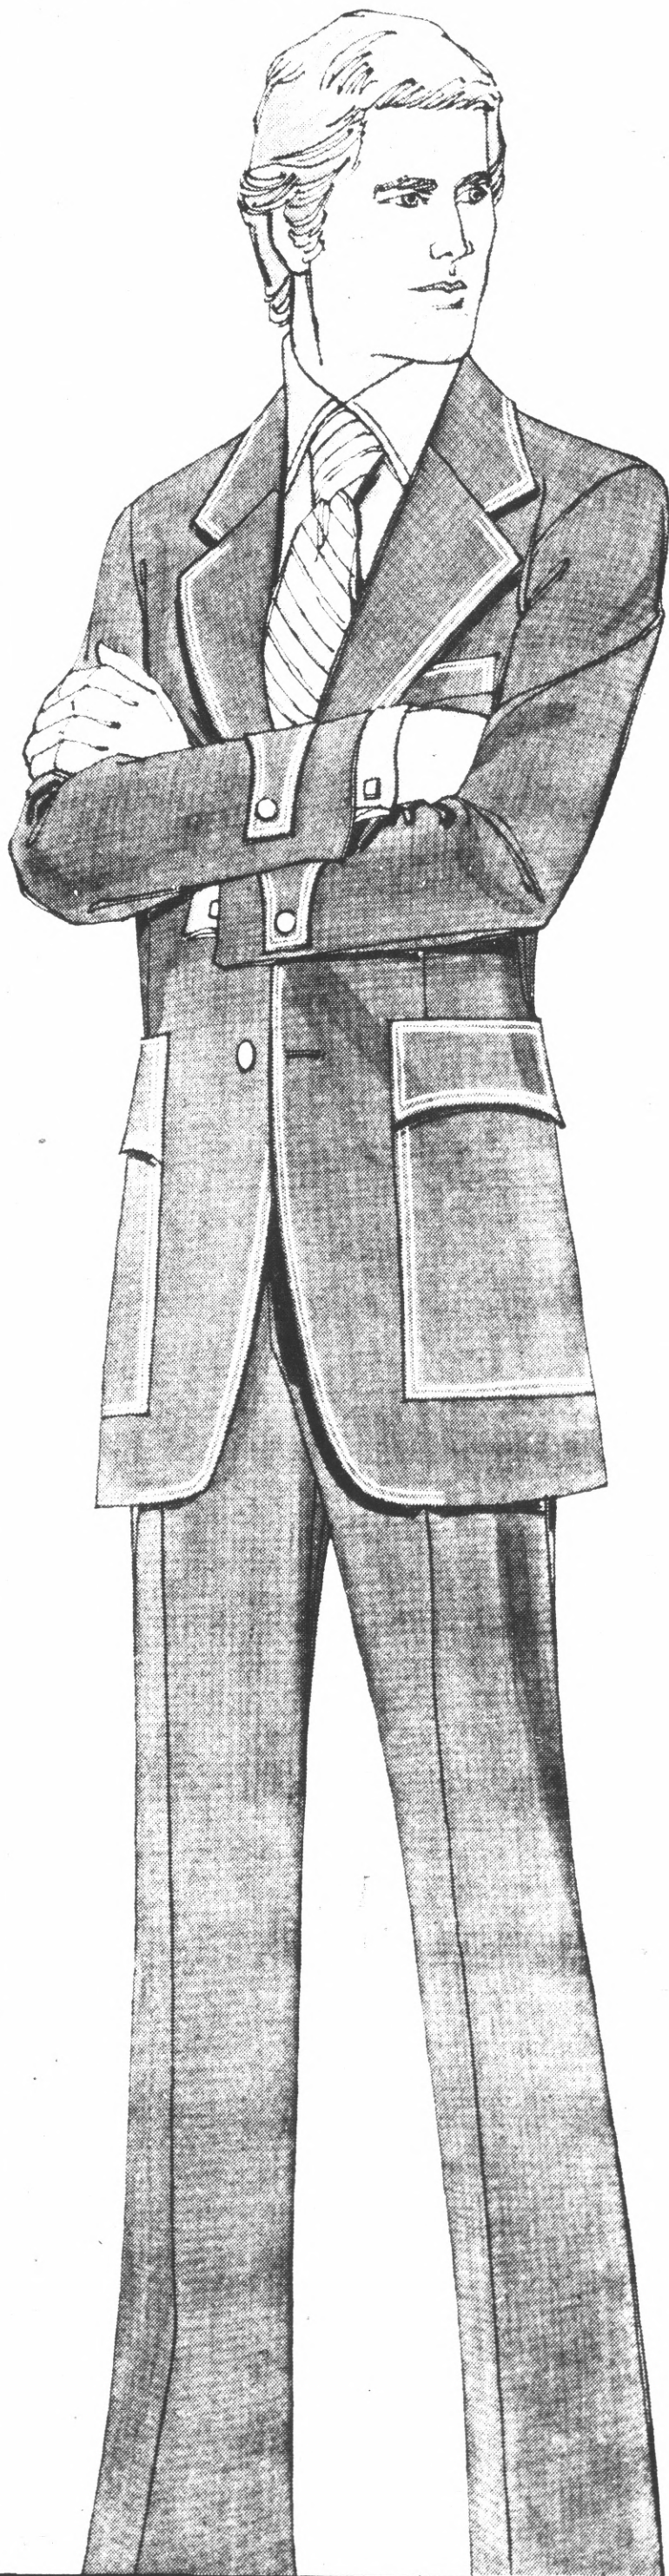

Dick Snell, head of buildings and grounds for Terra Nova since the school's opening in 1961, is retiring this week. Snell was one of the most cooperative workers around and will be missed.

Mass Will Mark Jubilee

The Rev. John Mullen, pastor, extends an invitation to all parishioners, their families and friends to attend a concelebrated Mass marking the close of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church's Jubilee Year on Oct. 25, at 4 p.m. with the Rev. Joseph T. McGucken officiating.

Rev. John Mullen states that several priests who have served the parish through the years will act as concelebrants.

A reception will follow in the school hall where many of the former religious and lay teachers, of the school, as well as many early day parishioners are expected to be present.

Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church was established in 1925 as St. Maximus Church with the Rev. James Donahue as its first pastor.

St. Maximus was chosen as the patron of the Daly City parish in order to honor the ethnic backgrounds of the two predominant blocs in the city at the time, namely, the Italian and the Irish communities.

In the late 1920s, Father Donahue secured the services of the Redemptorist Fathers in sponsoring a parish mission. Under the title of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, the missions drew Catholics from all around the Bay Area.

In 1930, Daly City's Catholics presented Archbishop Edward J. Hanna with a petition to have St. Maximus Parish formally rededicated as Our Lady of Perpetual Help parish which was approved by the Holy See in 1931.

Ill health forced the resignation of Father Donahue as pastor and Monsignor James Bergin succeeded him and served the parish unselfishly for 29 years.

Monsignor Bergin retired in 1968, having celebrated the silver and golden jubilees of his 1916 ordination while at Our Lady of Perpetual Help. The Rev. John Mullen is the present pastor with the Rev. Tom McElligott and the Rev. Juan M. Diphe assisting.

Mills High School Has 'Open Door' Policy

The doors of classrooms 605 and 606 at Mills High School stand open, welcoming visitors, but "the students are moving out," according to Bob Corcoran, teacher in the Developmental Learning Program (DLP).

"Ours is now an 'open door' policy," he said.

He was referring to the fact that the students are no longer kept inside those classrooms all the time.

"We are taking them out, beyond our own doors, into other classrooms, away from school, helping them to get along by themselves, to earn a living, to do the same things as the regular students," Corcoran said.

DLP is for about 40 students of the district whose tests show they are capable of reading to the 6th or 8th grade level but are not able to do regular high school work.

Part of getting out of Rooms 605 and 606 is attending regular classes at Mills.

During spring 1975, three students went to a regular English class, six to driver education and two to chorus.

Art, homemaking and physical education teachers have special classes for DLP students in their own departments.

During the summer, for the first time, two students took typing.

"Our entire program is much more informal and less rigid than it used to be," said Corcoran. "Some of the students had never been anywhere outside of home and school, so last spring we took them all to Point Reyes in Marin County."

He said all students were assigned different tasks for the four-day outing. They had to cook, clean up and take care of equipment, as specified in a job chart.

Corcoran had high praise for the student volunteers who went along on the trip. Three of them help out in the program regularly on their own time — K.C. Anderson, Cindy Erlich and Phil Woodall.

Others are from the community service program — Jeanna Johnson, DeeDee Kidson, Pat Mountain and David Woodall.

"K. C. and Phil taught a couple of students to body surf," reported Corcoran.

The costs of the trip were paid for out of profits from the chicken barbecue the students cooked and served at Mills' school carnival last April.

The first fund raiser the group ever had was a spaghetti feed for their parents and friends earlier in the year.

The students have three teachers of their own — Corcoran, Barbara Luke and Don Gabbert. Gabbert returned to the staff this year after a year's sabbatical replacing Robert Walker, now on leave.

Sometimes the teachers take the students out on their own time. Corcoran is an outdoor fan and takes a few students to Big Sur occasionally.

Mrs. Luke rides the buses and BART with them whenever she can, and Walker took them out on his boat on the Bay on several weekends.

"We have free passes from the Burlingame Transit," said Corcoran. The students get on at Mills and ride a full circuit to return.

"We're in no race here," he added. Students can stay five years in the program if they wish.

Teachers, parents, the district admissions committee and the students are consulted about such decisions. Steve Grimes and Joe Jesus opted to take a fifth year this term.

Corcoran would like to introduce more variety in the program. On his "wish-we-could" list are music and gardening.

"It'd be great to have an old piano," he said. "One young man can pick out simple tunes by ear. We wish we could give more of them a chance at a musical instrument."

There is a small plot of ground outside the classroom and Corcoran would like to plant a garden there.

"We need to offer enough variety so each student finds something at which he can succeed," he said.

"But we have come a long way, even now, since the days the doors were kept closed and we kept everyone in all the time," he said.

Good morning, good cooks.

How about making next Sunday's breakfast a special treat by baking some special biscuits. Basically this is a biscuit recipe but it has the added attraction of fresh lemon and is shaped into attractive ribbon twists.

LEMON TWISTS

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons soft butter
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Sift the two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, and half teaspoon salt into a medium mixing bowl.

Add the four tablespoons shortening, mixing well with a fork. Beat the egg slightly in a measuring cup, add milk to make three-fourths cup and to flour mixture and blend. Roll dough out on floured board to a thickness of 1/4-inch. Spread with the two tablespoons butter.

Combine the fourth cup sugar, one teaspoon lemon juice and one teaspoon lemon rind and spread over butter. Roll for jelly roll and cut into 16 pieces. Twist from ends in opposite directions.

Bake in greased shallow baking pan in slow oven (325-degrees) about 35 minutes. Remove from oven and brush tops with melted butter. Makes 16.

With apples still plentiful, this would be a good time to bake this nutritious and tasty quick bread.

APPLE OAT BREAD

2 cups sifted flour
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
three-fourths teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
one-eighth teaspoon allspice
two-thirds cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 1/2 cups rolled oats
1 cup finely chopped and peeled apple
1/4 cup chopped walnuts
2 eggs, well-beaten
two-thirds cup milk
2 tablespoons dark molasses
1/4 cup shortening, melted and slightly cooled

In mixing bowl, sift together the two cups flour, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, three-fourths teaspoon cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg and one-eighth teaspoon allspice. Add the two-thirds cup brown sugar, one and one-half cups rolled oats, one cup finely chopped apple and one-fourth cup nuts. Mix well.

Combine the two well beaten eggs, two-thirds cup milk, two tablespoons molasses and one-fourth cup cooled melted shortening. Add the liquids to the dry ingredients and stir only enough to dampen all flour.

Pour into well greased 8x4-inch loaf pan and bake in preheated 350-degree oven 60 to 65 minutes. Cool about 10 minutes. Turn out on rack to finish cooling. When bread is completely cool, wrap in wax paper, plastic bag or aluminum foil.

For best slicing and mellowing of flavors, store bread 12 hours or overnight or freeze before using.

San Mateo County Fair Begins Bicentennial Plans

Total attendance at the San Mateo County Fairgrounds in San Mateo was up nearly 64,000 over the previous year, fair manager Sal Millan told a blue-ribbon critique session meeting in the Fair's Garden Restaurant last week.

Millan told the session, called to critique the 1975 fair and to plan the 1976 bicentennial fair, audit statistics indicate the most successful year ever.

Total attendance at the grounds, including a 290,631 attendance at the 1975 fair, came to 559,434, as against 495,489 in 1974, he said.

Millan announced a number of fair management proposals for the bicentennial observance in the 1976 San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta. They included:

Landscaping in the bicentennial theme, with new plantings added in the fairgrounds.

Bicentennial planting along Delaware Street on both sides.

Free exchange of plants, trees and flowers with cities from the 13 original colonies.

Pageantry and other special events presented by each city in the county.

Historical exhibits from sister cities, both national and international.

Conversion of the Community Building by the County Bicentennial Committee into a total Colonial Village.

The Hall of Flowers to feature parallel gardens from the original 13 colonies and California.

Promotional tie-in with major firms featuring bicentennial products and special events.

Historical booths in each building.

Total fairgrounds decoration in California and bicentennial colors.

Exhibits and observance of their special days by all cities.

Revival of colonial contests, games, sports events and competitions.

The critique session was unique in that members of the San Mateo County Bicentennial Committee sat in on both the general and the fair departmental sessions to help develop next year's fair following the bicentennial theme. That swelled attendance to close to 100.

The result was a number of innovations which may be seen next year.

A floral arts leader announced that the traditional ladies hat day will be eliminated, to be replaced by a "Bicentennial Day," with the ladies to wear colonial costumes and carry small nosegays denoting prizes for best floriculture.

School District Boundary Change Complex

By RICK SULLIVAN

The proposed transfer of two North County schools from one school district to the other is so complex that such boundary changes are rarely attempted in San Mateo County.

A group of San Bruno parents has proposed a school boundary change that includes the possible de-annexation of two schools in the Laguna Salada School District in Pacifica and the annexation of those schools by the San Bruno Park School District.

The logistics involved in transferring not only students, but teachers, school buildings and equipment from one school district to the other make the issue complex.

The implications of such a move appear so complicated that some school officials believe a court decision might be necessary to resolve at least one financial question.

Dr. Myron Schussman, deputy superintendent of county schools, said no such boundary change had been attempted at least over the past eight years.

For the past 10 years residents of San Bruno's Portola Highlands subdivision have been fighting a mini-battle to have children attend schools in the San Bruno Park School District.

Currently all children in Portola Highlands must attend Portola Highlands School or Pacific Heights School. Both schools are in the Laguna Salada School District.

The controversy started anew last week when David Cartwright, of Portola Highlands, told LSSD trustees he and other parents want Portola School annexed by the San Bruno School District, because they said they want their children, upon graduation, to attend high school in San Bruno.

Because Portola Highlands students now attend LSSD schools, they now must attend Oceana High School in Pacifica. Oceana is in the Jefferson Union High School District.

The boundary change proponents argue that if their children attend elementary schools in San Bruno, the children then could by law, attend Crestmoor High School in the same city. Crestmoor is in the San Mateo Union High School District.

At last week's meeting, LSSD trustees expressed no opposition to the proposal, and, in fact, suggested that Pacific Heights School also be de-annexed.

At this point, the boundary change proposal remains where it has been over the past 10 years — merely in the talking stages.

For the issue to be considered to any large degree by governing bodies, a number of steps must be taken, according to Dr. Schussman. These steps include circulation of a petition asking for de-annexation among Portola Highlands residents and getting 25 per cent of the registered voters in the area to sign it, or securing a majority vote favoring the de-annexation by trustees of the four school districts involved in the boundary change.

According to Dr. Schussman, if either one of these steps are undertaken successfully, the issue would go before County Superintendent of Schools J. Russell Kent and he would in turn refer the issue to the County Committee on School District Organization.

Dr. Schussman said the county committee would make a study to determine whether or not the transfer would adversely affect the school district organization master plan in the county and how the transfer would affect racial and ethnic integration of the schools.

If the committee found that the boundary change is not appropriate the issue then would be forwarded to the State Board of Education, Dr. Schussman said, and that board would review it.

Dr. Schussman said the County Board of Education would study the proposal if the committee approved the boundary change.

The County Board of Education either could approve or deny the boundary change — or call for an election.

None of the four school districts involved in the boundary change have discussed thoroughly the ramifications of the change. However, because the issue has been a live one for some 10 years, the San Bruno Park School District has some idea of the complications involved in the transfer.

District Administrative Assistant Robert Barron said that before San Bruno would agree to the transfer many questions, especially those involving finance, would have to be answered.

Although he said he could not at this point detail financial problems involved in the transfer he did say the San Bruno District would be looking at how the transfer, would affect average daily attendance monies, new teachers the district would have to absorb and payment of bonds and on the two schools.

He would not elaborate, but said the bond issue is so complex it might have to be resolved in court.

Coast Variety Store to Shut Down

By BOB PETERSON

Grant City, a large variety store in Pacifica's Linda Mar Shopping Center, soon will lock its doors in the wake of the New York-based firm's decision to close all stores west of the Mississippi.

Reportedly saddled with heavy losses, the W. T. Grant Co. last week filed bankruptcy under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy laws.

Late Friday morning at the Pacifica store, it appeared from the outside that business was brisk. Cars pulled into parking stalls in front of the store and patrons pushed open the doors, obviously bent on serious shopping.

Inside, clerks were stocking shelves, cash registers were clicking. Yet, the atmosphere was somewhat somber.

Manager Doug Hill, standing with hands in his pockets, as he watched the customers' purchases being checked and tallied, really didn't care to talk.

"I don't know any more than you do," he replied to the general comment that this reporter would like to discuss the consequences of the decision.

"I'm not to give interviews," said Hill, as it was explained the desire was more to get personal reactions about their future from himself and his employees than to hash to pros and cons of the parent company's move.

"I would rather you didn't talk to the clerks," he said. Hill, who's been with the Pacifica store three years, and much longer than that with W.T. Grant Co., was not adamantly avoiding questions. He possibly, was, stunned by the past week's developments. And, just as possibly, there are as yet no ready answers.

Hill said he undoubtedly would meet with the employees, and later there could be some announcements. But not now.

The Linda Mar store was considered by many business-oriented people as one of the more successful Grant outlets. By contrast, a Grant store in the Daly City Westlake its doors approximately three years ago.

Speculation already is that the Linda Mar location will be filled quickly probably with another dry goods or variety-type store, after Grant City vacates.

Fund Drive Under Way for Children's Home

Public help is needed to serve more retarded children and adults at the Children's Health Home in San Mateo.

A much needed fund drive is under way to expand the facility enabling it to make a waiting list no longer necessary.

The home which is located at 515 E. Poplar Ave. has been an innovative private, non-profit agency in the field of working with the retarded. It now also provides for all developmentally disabled children and adults through innovative programs aimed at diminishing the handicapping factors. The sooner training is provided the more effective it is, emphasizes Executive Director Elsie Vickery.

Anyone who wishes to visit the Health Home is urged to do so. Tours are being provided for interested groups.

Only by observing the training and the excellent work being done by the members of our Sheltered Workshop can people realize how much it means to them," Mrs. Vickery pointed out. "Everyone needs to feel a sense of pride in accomplishment, and that sense of pride exists regardless of retardation in every human being," she added. "That's why all of our volunteers are presently working so hard to reach the $656,000 goal to provide additional space for new and expanded programs." Mrs. Vickery explained.

For the past 20 years, the Health Home has led in the field of providing education, recreation and vocational training of the mentally retarded. Today the program at the home has been expanded to include those who are emotionally disturbed, neurologically handicapped, autistic or have cerebral palsy or epilepsy. A number of special building fund drive events are being planned by Chairwoman Joan Bardett of San Mateo. Working with her on the planning committee are: David Barr, Mrs. Libby Cullinan, William Siders, Mrs. Daniel Dibert, Mrs. Thomas Scadden, Mrs. Joan Stafford, all of San Mateo; Mrs. Ruth Steiner, Mrs. Evelyn Stanton, both of Hillsborough; Mrs. LaVey Norquist of San Carlos. Mrs. Steiner is president of the Health Home's board of directors. The building fund chairman is Marron Kendrick of Schlage Lock Co.

A number of airlines and Schlage Lock, plus other firms, have maintained work contracts with the Sheltered Workshop. This provides source of much needed employment for the retarded. It also makes it possible to pay them a minor salary, which though small in size is very large in terms of personal pride, self-respect and happiness.

"It means a great deal for the retarded adult to be as self-sustaining as possible, and imagine the pride with which they bring their take-home pay to their family," added Mrs. Vickery.

Anyone who wishes additional information may contact the home, or Mrs. Norquist.

2-Year Reappraisal Cycle Favored

San Mateo County Assessor Jack Estes is being encouraged by the Board of Supervisors to institute a two-year reappraisal cycle for all classes of property.

The action came last week when the board adopted a resolution supporting the recommendations of Dr. Ronald B. Welch, a property tax consultant who undertook a survey of the county's assessment practices earlier this year.

In his report, submitted last July 9, Dr. Welch said he found no basis on which to conclude there was any discrimination in the county's assessment practices.

However, he recommended that, in order to reduce the potential for discriminatory assessment of single-family residential properties, the reappraisal cycle for all real property classes be equalized.

In its resolution, the board states it favors a two-year reappraisal cycle and, in order to begin to implement an equalized reappraisal cycle, urges Estes to reappraise all commercial, industrial and residential properties this year which have not been reappraised in the past two years.

The resolution states that the board "encourages, and will provide reasonable assistance to, the assessor in moving progressively toward an equalized reappraisal cycle of two years for all classes of property."

In his report, Dr. Welch recommended that Estes should attempt to speed up the reappraisal cycle for commercial-industrial property and to temporarily slow down the cycle for single-family residential properties in order to reach a goal of biennial reappraisal for all properties.

Although it might be necessary to institute a brief period of triennial reappraisal of residential property, it should not be done on long-range basis, Dr. Welch said, because continued inflation would make anticipated 25 to 50 per cent jumps in assessed values every third year "disruptive."

The resolution adopted notes the board provided funding in the assessor's 1975-76 budget to provide additional manpower to help implement the equalized reappraisal cycle.

Jeff Teachers Name 2 of Fact-finding Team

The Jefferson Union High School District has appointed two members for its fact-finding team and a third will be named soon.

The administration Tuesday announced it has selected Dr. David Shapiro, assistant superintendent for business in the San Mateo Elementary School District, to serve as its representative on the three-man panel.

Supt. Dr. Floyd Bonella said the district's Board of Trustees selected Shapiro because of his extensive experience in fact-finding teams.

The Certificated Employees Council (CEC) representing the district's four teacher organizations accepted the administration's request to seek fact-finding in September.

Negotiations concerning salary increase, contractual leave and binding arbitration in the final phase of grievance procedures have progressed slowly and at times have been stalled.

The teachers, however, have not totally agreed on the use of fact-finding panel. The American Federation of Teachers in the district has refused to contribute any funds to provide for a panel member.

The CEC voted, 5-4, to enter fact-finding with representatives of the California Teachers Association and adult school voting in favor.

The CEC selected Michael Fay of the United Teachers of Los Angeles to serve on the panel.

Those two members now must meet to select a third member to chair the panel.

Gonella said they will begin their work immediately, although no specific date has been set.

A letter from a library patron reads, "I want to serve something that is real San Francisco. Something that will bring the flavor of Market Street and the Mission District into my dining room. Do you have a book that will help me?"

Ah yes! From the Auxiliary to St. Anthony's Dining Room on Jones Street, just north of Market, comes a book of favorite recipes. St. Anthony's Dining Room is as much a part of the San Francisco scene as the Ferry Building or the Cable Cars. Every week they serve an average of 1,700 persons who are among the poor, hungry and unfortunate people of the City by the Golden Gate. On Thanksgiving and Christmas the number served soars to 4,000 men, women and children. Truly St. Anthony's Dining Room has been called "The Miracle of Jones Street."

A happy spirit is the chief ingredient of the dishes prepared at St. Anthony's. As the editors of the cookbook write:

"Just pour some happy spirit
In a great big mixing bowl
Then add a few ingredients
And lo! a Casserole."

For a San Francisco flavor in a one dish meal serve Marie's Sea Drift Casserole which is made from fillet of sole and prawns and baked in white sauce with cornstarch and seasonings added. Serve it with French bread and green salad. Or create and serve a Turkey and Artichoke Bake wherein artichokes, Swiss cheese, diced turkey and chicken broth are blended into a dinner with the favor of the Tenderloin.

Artichokes appear in other recipes that are found in a section of the book entitled "Recipes From Famous San Francisco Restaurants." Among them are the instructions for making veal scallops with artichoke hearts. Besides these, this section contains many other mouth watering recipes. Among them are Lemon Chicken (nom moong gai) by Master Chef Sun Prie Wong from Kan's Restaurant, Inc. and the recipe for Tournedo de Boef Rossini from Ernie's Restaurant in San Francisco and for Victory Garden Dolma from Omar Khayams.

Sam's Grill is represented in St. Anthony's favorite recipes with Clams Elizabeth. Trader Vic's King Crab Legs -- San Francisco Style appears in the book on the same page as Veneto Salad. Rice pilaff, shish kebob, Prawns La Szechwan and Crab Leg Ambassador are among the other dishes described in the book.

What could be more representative of San Francisco than dishes created for and served to the City's firemen. Try sukuyaki stroganoff or red-eye pot roast or corned leg of lamb with currant mustard or a huge ripe olive hero sandwich. Generations of firemen have enjoyed them.

St. Anthony's favorite recipes contain sections entitled Relishes, Jellies, Pickles; Soups and Salads; Casseroles; Meats and Poultry; Seafoods; rolls and Breads; Candies and Cookies; Pies, Pastries and Desserts; Cheese; Recipes from Foreign Countries and Recipes from Famous San Francisco Restaurants.

"The Favorite Recipes of the Auxiliary to St. Anthony's Dining Room" is a cookbook for every San Francisco cook -- especially housewives. For as the editors write:

"Breathes there a wife with a soul so dead:
Who to her husband has never said:
This my own real, homemade bread!"
or casserole or roast or pie or pudding.

Recipe

Contest

Elise Gendar, area director for the Diet Workshop, has announced that entry blanks are to be distributed the week of Oct. 20 for the organization's fourth annual recipe contest.

One of the nation's three most successful weight control programs, Diet Workshop is currently noting its Tenth Anniversary Year.

All Diet Workshop participants are encouraged to enter the recipe contest competition. Tasting parties are to be held the week of Nov. 3 in each Diet Workshop group.

HONOR

SPIRITUAL DIRECTOR

The Westlake Catholic Women of Our Lady of Mercy Parish will hold their 19th annual Sodality Enrollment Breakfast Sunday in the parish hall following the 9 a.m. Mass, Nov. 2. Mrs. James McCann, Spiritual Director, has chosen Mrs. Robert Drucker as sodality chairwoman for the event. The moderator for the breakfast will be Father James Parenti.

Ocean Depths Focus of Talk

"We get from scripture that we should Honor thy Father and Mother. I hope that today is in that spirit," Dr. John Petersen, president of Skyline College said as he welcomes more than 300 senior citizens to the campus for the second Senior Citizens' Conference early this month.

The theme for the all-day event was "Treasures of the Deep," featuring a film and slide presentation by John Galehouse, a marine biologist and San Francisco State University instructor, and Skyline teacher Melvin Zucker.

Oceanography was the subject for the film as it focused in the work of the ship, the Glomar Challenger. A voyaging and drilling vessel, the Glomar's job is to check on how the world has changed in the past and how it is changing now.

Galehouse, a recent passenger on the Glomar, said the ship has found evidence to prove the theory that the earth was once made up of two super-continents. Included in this theory is proof Africa and South America were once connected as well as Europe and North America.

The San Francisco professor said the super continent idea began in 1912 and was scoffed at back then but presently is accepted by almost all scientists.

Showing how delicate the planet earth is, Galehouse presented a slide outlining the 12 plates the land and water of the earth rests on.

He pointed out that the area along the west coast of North America is where the Pacific and North American plates join to form the San Andreas Fault.

With another slide, the speaker demonstrated the location of the fault in relation to the local housing developments.

The fault goes through the Serramonte and Fairmont housing districts but doesn't extend into San Francisco as it goes out to sea around Muscle Beach.

Galehouse said the Glomar Challenger traveled through the Bermuda Triangle and actually drilled for sea floor remnants without any problems.

Community Worker For SSF Red Cross

Raymond R. Camacho, a resident of South San Francisco for 18 years, will be the new community worker out of the Red Cross South San Francisco Service Center.

Camacho, who believes "people of different cultural backgrounds have much to offer our cosmopolitan society," is highly interested in the field of social science, particularly in the areas of bilingual, bicultural community service, counseling and education.

Currently, Camacho, 37, is working on his masters degree in social science with concentration in community services, social work, English as a second language and Spanish.

He holds a bachelor of arts degree in social science from San Francisco State University and a standard secondary teaching credential — both completed in 1974.

Spanish is Camacho's second language, learned mostly from his parents and some academic training.

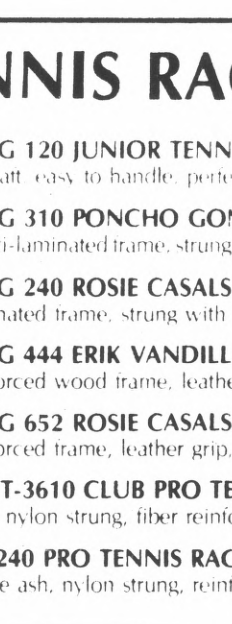

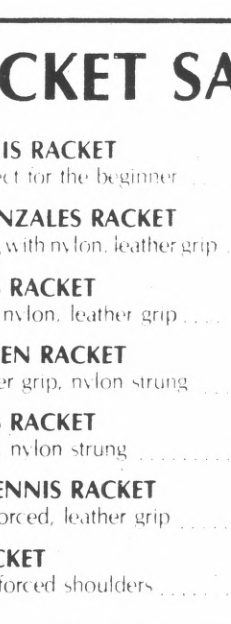

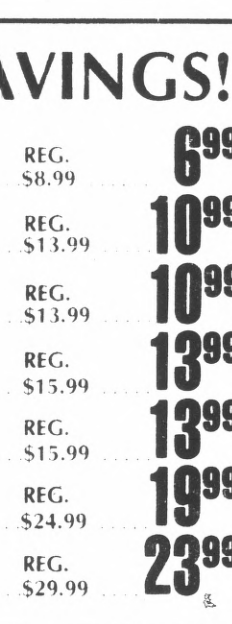

He is a native of Los Angeles.

Camacho has been involved in various latino and multiethnic activities in the community, mostly in the areas of fund raising and encouraging students to continue their educational endeavors.

In 1974 Camacho worked with the Bay Area Bilingual Education League as a teacher's aide.

Accreditation for Conservatory Eyed

Accreditation for the college program at Peninsula Conservatory of Music, Burlingame, will be one of the topics under discussion at the national meeting of the National Association of Schools of Music in San Diego Nov. 22-25.

Adele Adler, executive director, will represent the four-year bachelor of music degree program at the meetings.

The program, which is presently state approved, is a long-awaited extension of the three-year music diploma program which is now approved for veterans and I-20 foreign students and prepares students for careers as performing musicians.

Accreditation of the college program is also on the agenda of the Advisory Committee on Accreditation and Institutional Eligibility, United States Department of Education, for the March 17-19 meeting.

With the advent of national accreditation, the conservatory will be able to accept students with California State Scholarships, Basic Educational Opportunity Grants, Bureau of Indian Affairs scholarships and the Army In-Service Education Program, as well as other scholarships designated by the federal government for use at accredited four-year institutions.

NOTICE
Thursday is the deadline for submission of material for consideration for publication in The Post.

Low Wealth Group Studied

If Jefferson Union High School District joins the Association of Low Wealth Schools, it will set a precedent for the state.

That's what the Board of Trustees learned Tuesday evening when ALWS President James Brien asked the board to consider paying the $1,250 annual dues to join the organization.

Brien, who is the superintendent of Laguna Salada School District in Pacifica, said 42 of the state's school districts presently belong to the ALWS and none of those are high school districts.

Because of the kind of tax rate structure for high school districts, there's more possibility for high schools to gain revenue and broaden the tax base, he said.

"High schools are rapidly approaching that level (of low wealth), however, under SB 90," Brien said.

SB 90 is legislation that places a revenue limits on all of California's public school districts.

Presently, only Laguna Salada in this county is a member of the organization. Brien said his district is at the lowest level of revenue among the state's school districts and was one of the pioneers of the ALWS.

He also has asked the Jefferson Elementary School District to join. It has not responded and the JUHSD trustees said they would "think it over."

"Low wealth is the fastest growing movement in education in California schools," Brien told the trustees.

The intent of the association is to obtain equal funding for children of low-wealth schools throughout the state.

It's a "grassroots approach" to improving education, he said.

The annual dues that school boards pay to join provides for a legislative advocate and committee meetings.

A major goal of the ALWS is to comply with the principles in the Serrano vs. Priest court decision.

That decision said the state's schools must equalize their expenditures per pupil as nearly as possible.

The ALWS says that such an equalization system should be implemented no later than the 1979-80 school year.

Other goals include:

- a basic quality program for every student, funding of which must be guaranteed by the state.

- a realistic inflation factor.

- local spending above the basic quality program must be related to effort and not wealth.

- discretionary prerogative of local boards to achieve a level of funding at the same level in all districts.

- full state funding of all categorical aid programs outside the basic quality program.

Brien said that to date the ALWS has employed Mike Dillon as legislative advocate, been recognized by the governor's office and state legislature, participated in state legislative committees and legislative hearings and grown to represent more than 33 percent of the total potential low wealth school districts in less than two years.

He said there is no specific criterion for designating a school as "low wealth." Any district that believes it is low wealth could join. The present members, however, are average or below average in their revenue on a statewide scale.

The organization at this time represents about 500,000 pupils, he said.

The basic goal, he said, is to obtain legislation that supplements the Serrano vs. Priest decision and is aimed specifically at the low-wealth schools.

The organization will write the bill itself if necessary, he said. But it does want one written by January.

High wealth districts in the state, already have an organization he said.

"We believe our own personnel and personalities involved with legislation is the thing we need now," he said. "They (high wealth districts) have an organization. It's incumbent upon us to do the same."

Twelve Projects Endorsed

Twelve bicentennial projects, endorsed by the San Mateo County bicentennial planning subcommittee, will be presented to the full county committee at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at San Bruno City Hall, 567 El Camino Real.

The projects include an elaborate bicentennial program and theme for the 1976 San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta. The fair is expected to feature national and international overtones in flowers, booths and program.

They also include the Bay Meadows kickoff to the bicentennial, a colorful "Salute to the Bicentennial" Nov. 8 that will have fanfare and ceremony reminiscent of old time Fourth of July and Veteran's Day outings.

In the latter event, music, color and the Americana theme will accompany a scholarship fund-raising event sponsored by the California Jockey Club, the Lawyers' Wives, San Mateo County Bar Association and the Legal Secretaries organization.

The Lawyers' Wives won approval of a more quiet project too — this one their successful court tours given students by trained docents.

"History, California Style" is the title of an approved project being developed by the San Mateo County Historical Museum. A bus loaded with historical exhibits will travel to the county's schools, parks and hospitals.

The annual "Fair Oaks Multicultural Festival," which will have a bicentennial flavor in July, 1976, was approved. There will be exhibits and crafts, artistic and musical performances, films, games, puppets and clowns.

Belmont, which has been winning national attention with its projects, won endorsement of another one. Called "Belmont's Precious Heritage," it will be a life-size sculpture of historical figures. To be located on Ralston Avenue fronting historic Twin Pines Park, it is conceived as a "lasting memento of the bicentennial."

Two projects of the San Mateo County Horsemen's Association won approval.

The "Re-enactment of the Anza and Moraga Expeditions" being planned by counties from Southern California to San Francisco and about the bay will retrace the route of the Spanish expedition which founded San Francisco.

The "76 Cavalry Brigade," an organization of several groups of young horsemen in the county this year, will present several groups in the post-Civil War uniforms of the western cavalry for participation in bicentennial activities throughout the county.

"USA The Hillborn Way," a fund-raising revue to benefit the Hillborn Community Theater, won approval, as did the "Bicentennial '76" San Francisco area Bottle Collectors Combined Show and Sale to be held at San Mateo fairgrounds Feb. 14 and 15.

A project of the Latin-American Spanish Speaking Organization — "Artistic Expressions of San Mateo County, 1776-1976" also won approval.
